

Title: What role for public utilities in the European Energy transition? Italy's north-east - a case history

Regione del Veneto is inviting you to the thematic event "What role for public utilities in the European Energy transition? Italy's north-east - a case history". The event will be organized by TUNE - Territory Utilities Network, a recently established network of energy, water, waste and mobility local utilities operating in North-east of Italy, and will elaborate on the necessity for small players to team up to provide integrated and sustainable services to their end-users, as well as the need to match their local nature with a broader European vision. The debate will be organized as a round table discussion, and will host as speakers the Regional Minister for Energy and Economic Development as well as representatives from the private sector and the European institutions. You can register via Event Brite at the following link. The event will take place in the afternoon of 5 February 2019 at the Hôtel de Grimbergen, Rue Royal 2 - Brussels. A light cocktail will be offered at the end of the conference. Final agenda will follow shortly.
